Sixty-one years ago our fathers brought forth in Buckhannon, West Virginia Wesleyan College. Buildings have been burned and raised: students, faculty, administrators have come and gone, but the Oak Grove has remained.

The trees in the Oak Grove are the original trees that were on campus when the school was first founded. High in the branches the winds whisper secrets of Wesleyan's past, promises for her future.

Inspiring to all Wesleyan's family are their sentinels of time. In this grove devotionals rise to praise the Creator, youth discovers courage to face difficult decisions, and boys press the hands of girls they love.

So now the Oak Grove becomes the theme for the 1951 Murmurmontis, published by the Publications Committee of the Community Council

Co-editors—Charles Collins and June Walker
Business Manager—Mary Peyton
Adviser—Esther Crisman

Dedication

To Miss Edna Jenkins, alumna, trustee, and benefactor of West Virginia Wesleyan College, the 1951 Murmurmontis is lovingly dedicated.

Miss Jenkins was graduated in 1902 from the West Virginia Conference Seminary, which in 1904 became West Virginia Wesleyan College, and has been a member of the Board of Trustees of West Virginia Wesleyan College since 1942. In 1950, Miss Jenkins, together with Dr. Thomas W. Haught, received the Alumni Award, in recognition of her outstanding loyalty to her Alma Mater.

The list of Miss Jenkins' benefactions is long and impressive. Representative examples are the Home Economics Cottage (1942), the new Moeller organ (1949), and the new Steinway Concert Grand piano (1950); but these are only examples, and represent in themselves no more than a small part of her frequent and generous contributions to West Virginia Wesleyan College.

Each year Miss Jenkins assists a number of West Virginia Wesleyan College students, often as many as five or six, with their expenses, thus making it possible for them to continue their studies. Sometimes she sends more than the amount reported by the administration as needed, with the suggestion that the student concerned will be able to make good use of it. She even writes in June to inquire whether the students she assisted during the preceding year will need help the following year. She searches for good opportunities to invest in Christian education.

Living modestly in the little town of Petroleum, West Virginia, and expressing in her numerous benefactions a devotion to West Virginia Wesleyan College as constant as the law of gravity, Miss Jenkins exemplifies beautifully the Christian ministry of giving—a type of ministry as noble as any other, and all too rare among those who have been entrusted with wealth. She has learned from the Master Teacher that "It is more blessed to give."

It is the lifelong loyalty and perennial philanthropy of rare souls like Miss Jenkins that make it possible for Christian colleges to originate, to develop, to survive, and to serve. We are already so deeply in her debt that we can never hope to do more than meet interest payments by making the best possible use of her generous gifts.

In grateful recognition of all that she has done, and will do, for us, and other students like us, we dedicate to her the 1951 Murmurmontis.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

ADMINISTRATION

Sturdy as the oaks in the grove are the administrators of Wesleyan. Students grow in the soil four years, then pass on. Administrators and faculty hold the name and traditions of the school. Storms, blasts and gales bend them as they do the oak, but like that mighty tree they weather the storms.

President William John Scarborough

Harriet Welshonce, Secretary

The direction of West Virginia Wesleyan College is under the capable leadership of President William John Scarborough whose untiring efforts have helped to maintain the high honor of service provided to its students. President Scarborough has endeavored to uphold the aims of Wesleyan to the utmost in building competent, cultured, Christian people.

Dean Arthur A. Schoolcraft

Arthur A. Schoolcraft has loyally served Wesleyan for many years in the administrative capacity as Dean. It is through his direction that Wesleyan has maintained its high academic standing, and has served thousands of students in the past years in their intellectual growth.

Mary Shaw Strugnell, Secretary

TREASURER'S OFFICE STAFF

The treasurer, Mr. Williams, and the business staff will be long remembered by students as the people who credit the monetary loss. These are the people who handle the financial aspect of the college business. It is through them that accurate and efficient records of financial administration are kept in order.

The Dean's office staff, not quite as well known to the student as the treasurer's office staff, keeps the students' records in order, and sends out college literature as well as many other administrative tasks. It is through the efforts of these people that the task of administration is carried out.

Assistant Administrators Aid

Certain groups on Wesleyan's campus turn special attention to the students' welfare. These are the house mothers, the doctor and nurse, and the cooks.

The house mothers live in the dormitories, barracks, and fraternity houses and provide a pleasant atmosphere for play and study for the students. Counseling and giving advice are two important aspects of their work that the student finds very helpful.

The health center, located in the student union, is under the supervision of Dr. Robert Chamberlain and Nurse Madge Martin who provide the medical attention for the student when he is sick.

The head cooks in Wesleyan's three dining halls are masters in the culinary art. They supervise the preparation and serving of the food that is eaten by Wesleyan's students. Many hungry guys and gals have been fed by these fine cooks.

Top to bottom:

House Mothers—Seated: Mrs. Gussler, Mrs. Greenlee, Mrs. Fitzgerald. Standing: Mrs. Mick, Mrs. Hamrick, Mrs. Herold, Mrs. Drummond.

Doctor & Nurse—Mrs. M. Martin, R. N. and Dr. R. Chamberlain.

Wesleyan's Many Students

A few of the minor administrative tasks on campus are those of the student union and book store, the alumni office, and the capital funds office.

The student union and book store is under the supervision of the student union committee of the Community Council. Mrs. Vaughn is manager with Mrs. Agey assisting. Mrs. Sperry is the book store clerk. These people provide the service and social environment of the student union.

Every good school has an alumni office as does Wesleyan. Mrs. June Flowers does the administrative duties as secretary. It is through this office that Wesleyan keeps in touch with its alumni.

The capital funds office is in charge of Mr. Ling with the assistance of Mrs. Taylor. Here the primary function is to raise the necessary funds for the Wesleyan building program now in progress. Progress and recording of giving is valuated in this administrative office of the college.

CLASSES

From little acorns grow mighty oaks. Students come to learned men to be taught and grow to be sturdy oaks under the influence of those who teach them. Time will cause the oak to take its place with the immortals: the acorns will grow to root in the soil from which the mother oak grew.

SENIOR WALK TO ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

ORGANIZATIONS

Beauty is an all-pervading presence. The universe is its temple: and those men who are alive to it cannot lift their eyes without seeing it on every side . . . An infinite joy is lost to the world by the want of culture of this spiritual endowment . . . The greatest truths are wronged if not linked with beauty, and they win their way most surely and deeply into the soul when arrayed in their natural and fit attire.

—William Ellery Channing

Community Council Has Finger In Many Pies

The Community Council, student government body of West Virginia Wesleyan College, began operation under its present constitution on June 20, 1947. The main purpose of the Council is to be a government "of the students, by the students, and for the students", with representation from the administration and faculty.

The Community Council functions through committees which are in charge of the various areas of campus life. These committees are: Awards, Conduct, Cultural Enrichment, Fraternities, House Government, Publications, Religious Activities, Social Activities, Student Union, N. S. A. Campus, and the Educational Affairs Committee. This type of student government found at West Virginia Wesleyan College is considered one of the outstanding types for a small college.

One outstanding contribution of the 1950-51 Community Council was the addition of an Educational Affairs Committee, whose duties are to confer and make recommendations concerning matters of educational interest and policies, with particular consideration for academic affairs. Along with the extra activities are the annual duties of supervising Freshman Week and Homecoming.

Financed by the Community Council, Albert Tomer and Joe Perez attended the Third National Student Association Congress held at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan, August 23-31. Delegates were also sent to the West Virginia Federation of College Students Conference held at Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, West Virginia, November 16-18.

Headed by Community Council President, Robert Lisensky, the student governors meet each Friday afternoon. Present at these meetings are Richard Johnson, Vice-president, Jean Burton, Secretary, and the class representatives. The Senior and Junior classes each have three representatives on the Council. Representing the Senior class are Jean Burton, Albert Tomer, and Bill Hastings; the Junior, Colleen Burke, Barbara Harless, and Richard Johnson. The Sophomore and Freshman classes have two representatives each. Katherine Bachtel and Charles Ellwood represent the Sophomore class; Constance Garrison and Raymond Crispin, the Freshman. Members are elected by popular vote by the student body.

Fun-Loving W. A. A. Starts Year With Wiener-Roast

Nearly every co-ed at Wesleyan belongs to the Women's Athletic Association, because it's fun! Organized for the purpose of providing recreation for college women, the association enables the members to take part in various sports and to enjoy fellowship meetings.

The monthly meetings began last fall with a wiener-roast at the City Park in Buckhannon. As usual, the high-light of the year was the annual Christmas Party. The girls played games, square-danced, and donated gifts for underprivileged children.

The chief activity of the W.A.A. is participation in intramural sports. Tournaments were held in the team sports, hockey, volleyball, basketball, and softball; and in the single sports, ping-pong, badminton, and shuffleboard.

Affiliated with the national American Federation of College Women, the Association is directed by Miss Charlotte Knepshield, director of physical education for women.

Home-Coming

Students Experiment with Principles Taught Through the Science of Psychology

During the past year, the West Virginia Wesleyan Psychological Society has been an active organization on the campus. It has served as a "camping ground" for those students who are seriously interested in the field of psychology, giving them a broader opportunity to learn and to experiment with the principles upon which the science has been built.

The primary purpose of the organization is embedded in the hope that through study, experimentation, and hard work, intermingled with fellowship, the society may prove to be valuable not only to its members, but to Wesleyan as a whole.

In order to attain full membership in the club, a student must be working toward a major or minor in psychology. However, affiliate membership is granted to those students who are seriously interested in bringing its aims into the realm of reality but who do not declare a minimum of fifteen hours in the department.

An over-all program included various projects such as propaganda and prejudice polls which the members worked on during the year. Demonstrations in psychological measurements, and experiments with mazes, reaction time boards, extra-sensory perception, and depth perception were conducted by different members of the group. Professor Vayhinger spoke to the club on two occasions concerning vocations in psychology and problem drinkers.

Dr. Franquiz spoke on "The Predicament of Psychology as a Science." A film "Cerebral Palsy" was shown and Mary Herrick shared some of the experiences she has had while working with palsied children. The society was visited by the Davis and Elkins Mental Hygiene Club. Trips were made to the Weston and Spencer State Hospitals for the mentally ill, where clinics were presented including the demonstration of electro-shock therapy.

Officers for the current year are: president, Bob Lisensky; vice-president, Joan Kendall; secretary, Margaret Jane Cook; and treasurer, Ken Miner.

3 B's Buzz With Activity

Beta Beta Beta, national honorary fraternity for biology students, is well advertised at West Virginia Wesleyan. Its name appears on many varieties of trees that the fraternity donated to the campus. A future plan for the Wesleyan campus is to build an animal-house, and a combination fish pond and snake den. This project of the Beta Beta Beta is to serve as the foundation for future animal experiments, especially with lizards. Another project of this active group is the mounting and preserving of insects and other interesting specimens found on field trips.

Besides doing things for the campus and future biology students, the Beta Beta Beta does a lot for its members. To a group of biology majors and minors it offers opportunity for further research and experiments in that field. Other purposes of the organization are to stimulate sound scholarship, and to encourage the search for scientific truth.

Beta Mu Chapter of Beta Beta Beta meets twice a month to carry out these purposes. Meetings feature reports from provisional members, discussions on the various regions of biology, or special speakers. Some of the topics spoken on were Buds and Flowers, Disease, and Forestry. Dr. Almond, and Dr. Franquiz were two of the featured speakers.

Beta Beta Beta members are divided into two groups, active and provisional members. Provisional members do a prescribed amount of biological work before they are initiated as active members. During the first semester six provisional members were initiated. They were: Jim Beggs, Marcia Parker, Scott Withers, Al Borden, Martha Linger, Mary Buffington.

The Beta Beta Beta is composed of eighteen members, most of whom are not pictured. The officers for the school year, 1950-1951, are: Lester Brady, President; Jean Burton, Vice-president; Mary Herrick, Secretary-treasurer; Myron Smith, Historian. The fraternity's faculty adviser is Dr. George Rossbach, Professor of Biology.

Limelight Spots Playshop Activities

Those who crave the thrill of performing behind the footlights, designing scenery, or merely selling tickets, belong in the West Virginia Wesleyan Playshop.

The work of this large, active group is evidenced each year in the two three-act plays they produce. Audiences are still chuckling over Bob Brown's clever portrayal of lovable, old Father Minick. Only those in the Playshop know of the hustle and bustle behind the scenes, the horror of forgetting a line, the thrill of a large audience.

Not content with its two big productions, the Playshop presents a score of one-act plays during the school year. "The Prince of Hearts," with its clever costumes and zany foolery, was the delightful product of careful direction by Senior member Colleen Burke and clever acting by the girls. The intriguing "Two Crooks and a Lady," was tedious to stage. Joan Kendall and her group labored long and hard to create the right effect. The characters in "Miss Fannie's Bomb" brought the Playshop's first one-act play program to an hilarious close. The student director of this clever skit was Mildred Hathaway.

These and other one-act plays were presented in several nearby high schools. The players thus experienced the hardships of touring theater groups. Tiny stages, cluttered passage-ways, and poor lighting make high school play producing difficult.

This year's members also took part in college productions, such as Wesleyantics and the operetta, Mikado.

Only by producing a great number of plays can the members get the experience they crave. All are not actors; many are prompters, stagehands, or business managers. But all of them, in one way or other, love theater work and to help produce plays.

Membership is limited only by one's love for dramatics. New members remain Juniors until they do work outstanding enough to rate Senior membership.

The Playshop is directed by John D. Shaver, professor of speech.

Phoenix Club Has Inactive Year

The Phoenix Club was founded on the West Virginia Wesleyan College campus early in 1947, by a group of young men who possessed neither funds nor inclination for fraternity life, but who felt nevertheless, the need for getting together and doing things in the spirit of fellowship. Like any embryonic organization the Phoenix Club has been plagued by their share of growing pains but have managed to take part in all campus group activities.

Murmurmontis Staff Is Proud of Finished Product

A small silver key is fitted into the lock of a door opposite the Health Center in the Student Union. As the door is swung open one catches a glimpse of a small, neat office, the home of the Murmurmontis. Although the office is now quiet and empty, one is usually apt to find it occupied with busy staff members preparing the contents of the yearbook.

The copy editor and her crew might be pouring over stacks of paper writing, reading, editing and re-writing copy, identifications and headlines. Every piece of material must be checked and rechecked for mistakes.

Rubber cement fills the air with a pungent odor when the engraving staff is at work. Marking, cropping, cutting and mounting are only part of the job of preparing pictures for the engraver. Accuracy is essential for one misjudged distance or slip of the cutter may mean a ruined page.

Much of the work that goes into the yearbook cannot be done in the office. The work of the art staff and photography staff is essential in the yearbook production. Preparing photographs and copy for all organizations is the job of the organizations editor while the student life editor collects and captions snapshots.

The two busiest members of the Murmurmontis staff are the co-editors. It is their job to unify the work of each part of stafl into one complete book and to see that all staff members complete their work on time.

Pharos Members Learn News Trade

Campus news and student opinion are published in the West Virginia Wesleyan newspaper, the PHAROS. Since 1904, the PHAROS, under the auspices of the Publications Committee of the Community Council, has been a student publication. Offering experience to prospective journalists, the paper also provides jobs in the art and business departments.

The reporters for the PHAROS, students of the college who are interested in writing, meet each Monday evening at 6:45 in the PHAROS room of the Administration Building to get their assignments.

To protect the walls and desks of the college, the PHAROS provides space for the work of student cartoonists. Selling advertisement and pinching pennies is the job of the business manager, the treasurer of the paper.

Hitting the Wesleyan news-stands each Wednesday, the PHAROS is assembled during a session at Miss Crisman's on Sunday afternoon. The four pages of copy then go to Elkins where they are printed.

This year the co-editors and business manager had the enlightening experience of attending the National Associated Press Conference in early November. Here they learned many tricks of the newspaper trade and had a good look at the city of Chicago as well.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

Philosophers Present Papers

A few of Wesleyan's students are deep enough thinkers to grasp the principles of philosophy and to rate membership in the Pi Epsilon Theta, national philosophical fraternity. Because of its belief in Personalism, Pi Epsilon Theta has only two chapters in the United States. The first and largest chapter is at the University of California at Los Angeles; the second, at West Virginia Wesleyan.

The main purpose of the Wesleyan chapter is to prepare papers on philosophy to be presented to the West Virginia Philosophical Society, which convenes twice a year at specified colleges throughout the state. Eugene Haaf, president of the chapter, presented a paper entitled The Philosophy of War and the Philosophy of Peace at the first convention held at the University of Morgantown, October 13 and 14. Joan Kendall, who will present the paper at the spring meeting, and Joe Perez accompanied Mr. Haaf and officially defended the paper.

Outside of preparing these difficult papers, the fraternity has few other activities. However, the spring initiation and banquet is the one exception. This formal occasion is patterned after the impressive initiation at U. C. L. A.

Students with high academic standing who have completed six hours of Dr. Franquiz's difficult philosophy courses are eligible to join the Pi Epsilon Theta. Prospective members for the year are: Chuck Ellwood, Lorene Fitzwater, Joe Kaluhiokalani, Don Rackliffe, Jean Weeks, Jim Hill, Vernon Berg, Seth Bower, and Bill Brown. Those new members will be required to learn the laws of the great philosophers of the past and to maintain acceptable grades in order to be initiated in the spring.

In addition to the student enrollment, several of the faculty, interested in philosophy and in the fraternity's intercollegiate activities, are also members.

Officers for the year are: Eugene Haaf, President; Joe Perez, Vice-president; Mary Herrick, Secretary; Eugene Maley, Treasurer; Joan Kendall, Community Council Representative; Dr. Jose Franquiz, Adviser.

Readers Gain Culture From Classics

Adding culture to Wesleyan's extra-curriculum, the Haught Literary Society promotes interest in the words of wisdom found in great books. Through the reading and discussing of these books, the members become acquainted with the great minds of the past and present, thus broadening their own minds.

Although membership is limited to sixteen women, every student on the campus benefits from the work of the Society. The "Literary Box," located in the library, displays a new and thought-provoking quotation each week, for the benefit of non-members.

The readers meet each Wednesday to discuss the works of great writers or their own original works. Instead of answering "here," the members recite a quotation when the roll is called. Each member is responsible for leading a meeting.

Several meetings featured speakers who are outstanding in the literary field. Miss Crisman, Mrs. Sidney Davis, and Dr. Lewis Chrisman spoke to the group this year.

During the winter, when the members are reading and reciting, they look forward to the Society's gala event, the annual spring banquet.

Dr. Thomas Haught, former president of West Virginia Wesleyan, realized the need for a literary group on the campus and founded the Society twenty-five years ago. Dr. Haught had an intense interest in the great literary masters and their works, and so have all the women who have since joined his Society.

Membership in this distinguished group is elective. Each graduating member recommends three women, outstanding in scholarship, character, and leadership, to take her place. The group then elects one of the three to membership.

The Haught Literary Society, although small and feminine, is a vital force on Wesleyan's campus. Its members, composed of sophomore, junior, and senior women, thrive on making the student body think. They realize that their knowledge of great writers and great thoughts will help them throughout life.

The officers of the Haught Literary Society during the school year were: Ellen Roush, President; Mona Gray Harris, Vice-president; Barbara Harless, Secretary.

Betty Lamp Erects Barbecue

While most of Wesleyan's students slave over a stack of books, several of the co-eds are slaving over a hot stove. Learning the art of cooking and home-making, these women are the members of the Betty Lamp Club, a national organization for home economics students.

During the year, the Betty Lamp Club sponsored many programs to promote the members' interest in home economics. At the meeting featuring a demonstration of cosmetics, different shades of make-up were applied to the contrasting complexion of Elaine Karnes and Mary Thompson. At their other meetings, the girls learned about cooking, sewing, and other domestic subjects.

Besides these educational programs, the Betty Lamp Club sponsored several outside activities. Adding to the convenience of their cozy home economics cottage on Barbour Street, the girls made plans for a barbecue in the back yard. Eager to start having parties and wiener-roasts, the girls plan to help build the brick barbecue.

Serving for campus dinners is a prime function of the Betty Lamp members. They were the apron-clad hostesses for the Homecoming barbecue and the faculty dinner.

Answering the plea for home-made cookies, the club baked and sold sugar, peanut butter, and chocolate-chip cookies to the girls and boys on campus.

One of the greatest thrills of a home economics major's school days is dwelling in the attractive home economics cottage. Three or four girls live in and manage the complete little home for six to eight weeks.

The Betty Lamp Club is under the advisory of Miss Gladys Cronemeyer, professor of home economics. This year's officers are: Mary Herrick, President; Margaret Ann Gunter, Vice-president; Kate Clark, Secretary; Ruth Mickel, Treasurer; Betty Jean Crabb, Social Chairman; Pat Phelps, Program Chairman; Margaret Barb, Publicity Chairman.

Unique Outdoorsmen's Organization Explores West Virginia

The Post Log Book for 1950-51 records another exciting year for Wesleyan's unique outdoorsmen's organization, Explorer Post 129, Boy Scouts of America. The boys began their activities early with a Sunday afternoon hike to the famous Pringle tree, near Buckhannon, where they held a "cook-out" and campfire on the historic spot where white man first lived in central West Virginia.

Later they presented an attractive float in Wesleyan's Homecoming parade. In November, the Post combined with Buckhannon's Post 126 for a hayride with their dates to Central West Virginia Council's Scout Camp on the Middle Fork River and an evening of square dancing in the rustic camp dining hall, reached by a thrilling barge trip across the river.

The two expeditions of the winter led the explorers in January to Wagon Wheel Cave and nearby Natural Bridge in southern Upshur County for a day of exploration and an evening's campfire. In February, the Post conducted its third annual trip to a "wild" cavern in Pocahontas County. The boys spent the day exploring the huge cavern chambers beneath Cheat Mountain. The outstanding feature of the cave is the picturesque waterfall reached only by wading a cold cave stream. Post Chaplain Jack Ferrell conducted the usual church service in one of the great rooms of the cave.

Several other outdoor events are planned for late spring.

A stimulating feature of the year has been the series of monthly meetings held in the Hudkins-Kelly-Young Museum in the Science Hall.

Officers of the Post are: Charles Wilson, Post Guide; Charles Wolfe, Assistant Post Guide; Dave Shaw, Scribe and Treasurer; and Jack Ferrell, Chaplain.

Sponsoring the Post for the College are Troop Committee Dr. Scarborough, Dr. Hupp, and Mr. Reemsnyder. Professor Shaver is the Institutional Representative; Professor Berisford, Post Adviser; and Dr. Rossbach, Assistant Post Adviser.

Scientists Advance Chemistry

Amid test tubes, Bunson burners, and other laboratory apparatus, the members of the Benzene Ring work to advance the study of chemistry. These scientists have been working on Wesleyan's campus longer than any other organization.

They began back in 1920, when Dr. Nicholas Hyma and his quantitative analysis class realized the need of a science club on the Wesleyan campus. The Ring became a chapter of the Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society in 1949.

One of the first and most important achievements of the Benzene Ring was the establishment of a science library for the use of its members. The group continued its scientific studies by visiting various industrial areas of chemical interest. At the regular bi-monthly meetings, the group hears lectures by men prominent in the Chemical World.

Throughout the years the Benzene Ring has had many projects and activities. Perhaps the most traditional event is the crowning of the Camphor King, a ceremony in honor of the student of Organic Chemistry who prepared the purest and largest amount of synthetic camphor. The students make camphor from turpentine, according to the classical method.

Another project which the Benzene Ring hopes to execute is Open House at Haymond Science Hall. Non-science students and Buckhannon citizens would then have the opportunity to observe the Science Department in action.

Several of the members fascinated the audience with some of the tricks of chemical science when the group performed for an assembly program.

In 1950, the organization originated the Strawberry Breakfast, which will be an annual dinner for alumni and graduating members.

All chemistry majors, who maintain at least a "B" average, are eligible for membership in the Benzene Ring. The group is directed by its founder, Dr. Nicholas Hyma, Professor of Chemistry.

This year the Benzene Ring, a group of about forty members, was led by the following officers: John Tucker, President; Marjorie Ann Young, Vice-president; Ruth Miller, Secretary; and Curtis Shrewsberry, Treasurer.

F. T. A. Learns From Experts

For the Future Teachers of America, learning a profession is a lot of fun. In an effort to instill more knowledge about children and teaching methods, the organization sponsors many enlightening programs. Educational movies and many outstanding speakers were presented at some of the regular meetings, which are held on the third Wednesday of each month.

One program featured movies on the school bond amendment and a talk on the subject by Mr. Gawthrop. Dr. A. A. Fry spoke on the subject "Education in a National Emergency." Mr. Williard W. Blazer, an authority in the field of personnel work, spoke to the group at their January meeting. From the office of Education in Washington, D. C., Mr. Blazer was a teacher himself for several years.

The F. T. A. also maintains a circulating library for the use of its members. Such advantages as this are made possible by the National Education Association. Members of the F. T. A. are automatically members of this association, the S. E. A. and the N. E. A.

When founded in 1911, the Morris P. Shawkey Chapter of the Future Teachers of America at Wesleyan was granted the fifth charter in the state of West Virginia. The chapter is composed of thirty-two students who are interested in furthering education and are dedicated to the upbuilding of a democratic civilization. The group is sponsored by teachers who have the same goals.

The annual spring banquet, held at the college gymnasium, is the climax of the F. T. A. activities for the year. At this time, the group is addressed by a speaker from the State or National Education Association.

The officers who led this year's F. T. A. were as follows: President, Lester Brady; Vice-president, Martha Hunt; Secretary, Betty Cross; Treasurer, Mary Peyton; Program Chairman, Doris Jean Post; Recreation Chairman, Helen Cronin; Librarian, Lenora Boyce; Adviser, Dr Hupp.

C. S. F. Attains Objectives

The Christian Service Fellowship was founded to provide worship, service, and fellowship for all students preparing for full-time service in the Church. This school year, the forty members have eagerly worked to obtain these objectives.

Worship—Every Tuesday afternoon throughout the school year worship services were conducted for and by the students. The sincerity of the student leaders enhanced a creative, spiritual atmosphere. Often at these meetings the group had the privilege of listening to guest speakers on campus. Among the guests were representatives of the leading Methodist schools of theology. The annual communion service, conducted by Dr. Brown, was the outstanding worship service of the year. It was both beautiful and spiritually uplifting.

Service—In service the C. S. F. extended its arm further than in any past year. Forty-five students, divided into nine deputation teams, were engaged in youth work in surrounding churches. Twice a month students held worship services for the patients of the Weston State Mental Hospital. At Christmas two parties were held for the under-privileged school children of the Buckhannon area. The parties provided each child with fun, refreshments, and a gift directly from Santa Claus. A total of 170 children were served by the two parties. These service projects provided interesting experiences and opportunities for personal development. They also provided an opportunity for creative service for which the Christian spirit constantly seeks.

Fellowship—The addition of monthly Thursday evening meetings in the Student Union added much to this year's fellowship program. The group had fun singing, folk-dancing, and playing games after the business meetings. Bringing a well-rounded and successful year to a grand ending, the C. S. F. held its annual picnic in the spring.

Officers—Norman Allers, President; John Ferrell, Vice-president; June Walker, Secretary; and Dick Powell, Treasurer.

Circuit Riders Take To The Road

Each Sunday morning, as the sun creeps up from behind the hills, the twentieth century "circuit-riders" take to the road. Crowded into their handy "carry-all," the Wesleyan student ministers are bounced and jostled over winding country roads, as they journey to serve various rural churches.

The Sabbath is no day of rest for these active ministers. A typical Sunday includes Sunday School and a sermon in the morning, service calls in the afternoon, and Youth Fellowship programs in the evening. Bountious meals at the tables of generous farmers provide ample energy for the day's activities.

Wesleyan ministerial students have been serving twenty-one churches in the Clarksburg, Elkins, and Weston districts for three years. Each member has charge of one or two churches for a school year.

Such active service gives the fourteen students the opportunity to practice the techniques of preaching and serving what they learn in their weekly class. Mr. Sidney Davis, director of the Group Ministry, teaches this class with the assistance of the district superintendent, Dr. Patterson. The students receive one hour credit for this class.

Grateful members of the rural churches repay the students in many ways. Besides maintaining the "carry-all," a station wagon donated to the group by a friend of the Methodist Church, they pay the students for their weekly services. This money is pooled and each student receives an equal share.

The project of the Group Ministry has a three-fold purpose. To the students it gives experience that will pave the way to their full-time service in the church; to the rural churches, it means programs that they could not afford otherwise; to Wesleyan, it means a reputation as a school of Christian service.

The Group Ministers are several of the campus' most energetic students. Besides their regular Sunday work, which requires many hours of preparation, some have part-time jobs; some are active in other campus organizations, and others maintain high academic standing.

HOUSE GOVERNING BOARD

Standing: Grace Wolfe, Mary Peyton, Mary Cheng, Joan Kendall.

Governors Also Plan Parties

One of the most efficient organizations on campus is the House Governing Board, whose business it is to provide a democratic system of government for the women's residences. Organized in 1946, the Board helps Wesleyan women to strive for the betterment of their school, strengthening of their character, and development of their social life.

The House Board, which includes one representative from each class, meets each week to formulate discipline and to plan its various activities. The House Board has various functions. One of its chief duties is disciplining the women who live on campus. "Campuses" and other penalties are decided by the House Board, which hears special cases. House rules are formed and enforced for the benefit of all women living within the halls.

Special parties for the women are arranged by the Board. Pajama parties, featuring fun and refreshments are held in the drawing room once a month. Birthdays are observed each month with special candle-light dinners. For the December dinner, the women wear formal gowns.

Arranging a seating plan for dining-hall meals is another duty of the House Board. This is done by drawing names. New seating plans are posted every three weeks. The women are allowed to sit where they choose over the weekends and at breakfast.

Functions of the House Board are carried out by committees chosen by the president. These committees are composed of women who are not members of the Board.

All women living in college residence are eligible to vote for and to be elected members of the House Board. The officers of the Board, which are elected in the spring, consist of president from the senior class, a vice-president from either the junior or senior class, a secretary from the junior class, and a treasurer from the sophomore class.

Education By Radio Is Goal of the Radio Club

Wesleyan's Radio Club was organized to develop its educational opportunities for the students interested in learning microphone techniques, radio diction, dramatization, and principles of broadcasting.

In discussing the problem of how to be effective via the microphone, the task was to adopt modern principles of effective speech to their use in the particular case of radio. It was recognized by the group that the best radio speaker is the one who follows most closely the dictates of a competent text book on public speaking.

Principles of good announcing were studied by the club. The constant change of style from one form to another helped announcers to learn to handle all types of public speaking.

Direct conversation, the cardinal principle of good speech, was practiced and the psychological effect of radio on the audience was carefully analyzed.

"Man is a gregarious animal, and much more so in his mind than in his body. He may like to go alone for a walk. But he hates to stand alone in his opinion."—Santayana.

This belief is an axiom in the field of radio education. Education, moreover, requires more courage as we reach its upper reaches. Education, the progressive enlargement of man's views of himself and of the universe about him, is everybody's business. It is two-fold—individual and social. Interpreting radio education in these terms, Wesleyan's Radio Club attempted to perform its duties for the student body.

The club cast and rehearsed a dramatization of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" for the December broadcast. Because of weather conditions and icy roads, the cast could not get to Clarksburg for the performance.

It is hoped that next year the broadcasting studio in the new Music Hall will be available for campus broadcasting, and that a tape recorder will be used for performances of musical and speech programs.

Jim Snyder was elected president of this group, and Hallie Lu Hallam, secretary. The adviser was Miss Esther Crisman.

Wesleyan Students Make Music

Wesleyan musicians express their talent through three mediums, the choir, the band, and the orchestra. These three organizations provide entertainment for the listener, as well as experience for the performer.

Membership in the college choir is open to all students of West Virginia Wesleyan College who love to sing. Its purpose is to instill spiritual and cultural growth through the increasing knowledge and appreciation of sacred music. The choir also attempts to interpret to others, by means of public performance, the artistic and spiritual message of music.

The outstanding activity of the choir is the annual tour. About thirty students sang in churches and high schools throughout the southern part of West Virginia during the week of touring.

The regular performances in chapel and the spring concert complete the choir's activities for the year.

Under the direction of Professor Charles W. Forlines, the choir meets three hours a week. Participation in the choir may or may not be for credit.

Outstanding in orange and black uniforms, the West Virginia Wesleyan College band is a colorful and musical spectacle on the football field. This year the band performed at every home football game, and also accompanied the team to the Waynesburg game in November.

Besides its performance at football games, this year the marching band led the Homecoming parade, while the concert band presented assembly concerts. These concerts gave the musicians a chance to play semi-classical and novelty music.

Having been discontinued during World War II, the band was reorganized in 1946 by C. Buell Agey. Professor Agey rehearses the band every Monday evening in the Music Hall. One hour credit is given for participation in the band.

Completing the college's musical trivium, the orchestra provides an opportunity for playing classical music. The orchestra is called upon for many performances. Collaborating with the choir, the orchestra performed for the Founders' Day program, the Commencement exercises, and the Spring Concert.

Assisting the dramatic department, the choir and orchestra also presented the Mikado, a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta. The orchestra also went on tour. In the spring it presented concerts in neighboring high schools.

First Inter-Collegiate Hockey Game Played at Wesleyan

Members of the Delta Psi Kappa, national fraternity for women majoring in physical education, had a busy year. Establishing a new record, the girls began the season by defeating the Davis and Elkins girls' hockey team, 2-0. The game, played on the Wesleyan athletic field, was the first official inter-collegiate hockey game to be played in the state of West Virginia.

Their second athletic adventure was a trip to Maryland for a playday at Frostburg State Teachers College in November. Along with women from other colleges, the Wesleyan representatives spent the day playing volleyball, basketball, ping pong, shuffleboard, and badminton. Sue Berry, Jenny Belle Weaver, Pat Meade, Martha Linger, Mary Kritzer, and Miss Charlotte Knepshield, the group's adviser, represented Wesleyan.

Since its beginning on the Wesleyan campus, the Delta Psi Kappa has carried out many projects for the benefit of the school. Projects of the past include the erection of the flag-pole on the athletic field, and the clock in the gymnasium. Plans for the future include the placing of a public ink-well in the hall of the Administration Building.

Each year, the Delta Psi Kappa girls sponsor the programs for the tournaments, and the coat-checking for all Wesleyan home basketball games.

Besides the regular monthly meetings, the Delta Psi Kappa holds two open meetings for the public. The annual Founders' Day program, presented in the fall, recognizes the birth of the fraternity. Each member contributes pennies equal to the number of years the organization has been in existence. This year the program was a vesper service led by Reverend James Roy of the First Baptist Church of Buckhannon.

At the second open meeting, Bill Lewis, of West Virginia University, called figures for square dancing.

Alpha Eta, the only Delta Psi Kappa chapter in the state, is under the advisory of Miss Charlotte Knepshield, the National Province Director of the fraternity.

The Delta Psi Kappa girls strive to live up to their motto, "A sound mind and a sound body."

Panhellenic Promotes Friendly Relations

To promote a friendly interfraternity relationship, the three sororities, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, and Alpha Xi Delta, formed the Panhellenic Council. Consisting of two representatives from each sorority, the Council establishes "rushing" rules and plans co-operative programs for the year.

Through its work the group endeavors to maintain a high standard of fraternal and school life, to further intellectual and scholastic accomplishments, and to be a forum for the discussion and solving of social problems.

Panhellenic activities began last fall with a tea for Freshman girls planning to join a sorority. The Council also sponsored a Spaghetti Supper; a "Tapping" dance, recognizing two outstanding pledges from each sorority; and a workshop.

Alpha Gams Have Year of Fun

Many a Wesleyan co-ed has lost her heart to the Alpha Gamma Delta, a thriving national fraternity for women. A group of fun-loving, energetic women, the Alpha Omicron chapter takes part in every campus activity and thinks up many of its own.

Fun began with the "Circus" rush party last fall, where Barbara Harless, Margaret Jane Cook, and Jean Burton clowned like professionals; where Carol Jean Crow told encouraging fortunes; and where everyone ate pop corn and won prizes. Within a few days, nine girls were pledged to the sorority.

Homecoming was a big event for the Alpha Gamma Delta just as it was for everyone at Wesleyan. Dipping into its supply of artistic talent, the sorority built their float around the slogan "Put Bethany Through the Mill." Seated beside the wind-mill were the little Dutch girl and boy, Wilma Johnson and Jean Burton.

In addition to the float, the chapter entered Pat Winston and Mary Buffington as Senior and Sophomore attendents to the Homecoming queen.

Like all Wesleyanites, the Alpha Gams like to have parties. Among the best were the Hawaiian pledge

The history of the Alpha Gamma Delta began in 1904, when Dr. Wellesley P. Coddington founded the sorority at Syracuse University. Within a year, it became a national organization, when it was installed at the University of Wisconsin. Three years ago, the local sorority, Sigma Pi Delta, became the sixteenth chapter of this sisterhood.

Alpha Xi's Still Going Strong

Alpha Xi Delta is the oldest national sorority on Wesleyan's campus. Beta Sigma chapter was installed at Wesleyan in 1948. This is only one of the distinguishing characteristics of the Alpha Xi Delta.

One of the largest organizations on campus, the sorority is composed of loyal, energetic girls, who work together to carry out many projects and sponsor many activities. The girls' first achievement of the year was winning second prize for their Homecoming float. "Freeze 'em Out, Bobcats!" Sue Berry, Homecoming Queen; Colleen Burke, junior attendant; Elaine Karnes, freshman, are Alpha Xis.

The socially-conscious sorority held several dances and parties during the year. They Christmas carolled with the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity; gave a party for the Buckhannon Alumnae Chapter; participated in the May Day Sing and the Interfraternity Dance; and held a Valentine

Dance, Square Dance, and Big and Little Sister party. The year's social activities climaxed with the Rose Formal dance, held in the Spring.

The Alpha Xis are thoughtful of the unfortunate children of Buckhannon, and each year they give the children a Christmas party. Besides the usual candy and cake, the girls gave gifts of clothing, toys, books, and games. Some new, some old and reconditioned, the gifts were chosen according to the age, size, and interest of the child.

Although it reached West Virginia Wesleyan only two years ago, the Alpha Xi Delta fraternity was founded at Lombard College, Galesburg, Illinois, on April 17, 1893. Of the ten women who founded the fraternity, two are still living. The large fraternity has sixty-five chapters throughout the nation.

A D Pi's Celebrate Centennial

In the warm and fertile land of Georgia, the oldest women's fraternity in the United States took root. Like all things raised in the "Sunny South," the Alpha Delta Pi blossomed into a large and vigorous organization, expanding from its origin at Wesleyan Female College in Macon, to colleges all over the United States, in one hundred short years. This summer delegates from the Gamma Kappa chapter will attend the National Centennial Convention in Macon, Georgia.

The distinguished sorority reached West Virginia Wesleyan three years ago. The school year of 1950-51 has been one of its fullest. Activities began October 5, when Pat Wilson, Winifred Post, and Clara Sarounie became active members. After the Alpha Delta Pi "rush" party on October 11, eight girls pledged.

The Alpha Delta Pi's take part in all campus activities. Work began Homecoming weekend, when the sorority entered a float bearing six Alpha Delta Pis in the parade, and presented the musical skit Jamboree Jones for Wesleyantics.

Five of the girls had roles in the Playshop's production, Minick in December. Several of the musically talented participated in the Mikado, and toured with the college choir.

The fun-loving Alpha Delta Pis had many parties during the year. The Bingo Party given by Misses Dottie Leach and Charlotte Knepshield started the ball rolling in November. Several of the pledges are still limping from the skating party given by the actives. The fun was worth the bumps.

Climaxing the season of social activities, there is the annual Black and White Diamond Formal at the Stonewall Jackson Hotel in Clarksburg, in May.

Alpha Psi Omegas Play, Direct, Produce

When a Wesleyan student proves his ability to remember lines, come in on cue, and bow from the waist, he may be accepted into the national dramatics fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega. First, of course, he must display his outstanding talent on stage.

This year's seven active members continued to participate in the acting and directing of Playshop productions. Starting the new year right, the group presented a one-act play during Freshman Week. The stars were Jack Ferrell, a frenzied husband; Mildred Hathaway, who attempted to psycho-analyze him; and Joan Kendall, their bewildered guest.

Each member participated in a skit for Wesleyantics. A parody on the old fairy-tale, the skit was a modern version of Cinderella, written in verse form.

Several of the group played in the Playshop's first big production of the year, Minick. Jack Ferrell, and Joanna Felton played leading roles, while R. L. Moore portrayed a "dandy."

A night of one-act plays offered the opportunity for student directing. Colleen Burke, Mildred Hathaway and Joan Kendall tried their skill at the art of calling signals for other actors

The group's activities also included just sitting back and watching others perform. During the year they traveled to Fairmont, the home of the Alpha Psi Omega, to see the school's productions.

Since the fraternity originated at Fairmont State College in 1925, it has expanded to 230 chapters throughout the United States and Canada. Alpha Rho chapter of Wesleyan was the forty-first to be installed.

In addition to its dramatic enterprizes, the Alpha Psi Omega sponsors other activities. The most important activity is the annual formal dinner at the close of the school year.

Not intending to take the place of the school dramatic club, the Alpha Psi Omega is an honor society for those who rise above the norm of the Playshop. Initiations are planned for each semester, in order that qualifying seniors may take an active part during their last semester. Two players qualified for initiation in February. They were Barbara Grizzle and Barbara West.

Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council of West Virginia Wesleyan was organized this past year to govern the social fraternities on the campus. The social fraternities: Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Sigma Phi, Theta Chi, and Kappa Alpha saw the need for unity in solving the common problems which exist among them. Two members of each fraternity and one alternate meet to maintain good fraternity relations, discuss problems, and make plans for social activities.

The fraternities were introduced to the freshmen at an interfraternity dance given at the opening of school. The Interfraternity Council also sponsored a picnic in the Spring for fraternity members and invited guests.

Officers for the year were: President, DeAlton Ambler; Vice President, Bill Hastings; Secretary, Helen Cronin; Treasurer, Betty Jo Birckhead.

One Candle on Theta Chi Birthday Cake

Seldom does a new-born infant grow as rapidly as did the Delta Gamma Chapter of Theta Chi during its first year on the Wesleyan campus. A year old on January 7, 1951, this social fraternity for men swiftly developed into a large and active organization.

After a successful "rush" party last fall, the fraternity added twenty-one pledges to its roster of nearly forty active members. Among the ranks, are numerous campus leaders, athletes, and outstanding scholars. Each Theta Chi is a member of at least one other campus organization, and twenty-five serve as officers.

As a group, the men work together to reap many merits for the glory of Theta Chi. Homecoming, 1950, was an especially significant event in the history of the chapter. Their unique float won first prize in the annual parade, while the Ballet a la Theta Chi performed with grace and precision in Wesleyantics. At the pre-game thuse, the musical Theta Chi's introduced the pep song "Oh, Who's Gonna Win?"

The Theta Chis are "bustin' out all over" socially. By having a social event each week, the men have experienced every type of entertainment from a New England "cook-out" to formal dances. Some of their chief occasions were the Anniversary Dance in January, the Spring Dance, and the Christmas party.

One of the chief sources of recreation for the men is participation in intramural sports. Their championship football and volleyball teams were undefeated. Several of the players rated positions on the varsity football, basketball, and baseball squads. Theta Chi is better represented in varsity sports than any other single campus organization.

But it's not all play and no work for the Theta Chis. Several of Wesleyan's high-ranking scholars are members of this brotherhood.

In all their work and play, the Theta Chis motto is: "Alma Mater first, Theta Chi for Alma Mater."

K A Sponsors Annual Dixie Ball

"Y'all haven't heard nothing yet!" Not until you have heard about the Kappa Alpha Order. Founded under the spiritual guidance of Robert E. Lee, this social fraternity for men is a true product of the Old South. Since its founding shortly after the Civil War, the fraternity has grown into a great organization with well over 35,000 members. The Beta Chi chapter of Wesleyan is one of eighty-four active chapters throughout the country.

After the first semester "rush" party, fourteen were pledged to Kappa Alpha. The second semester "rush" party was held in February.

In keeping with their distinguished heritage, the K As sponsor an annual Dixie Ball. Dressed in the traditional gray, the men escorted their ladies to Jane Lew, where the dance was held in January.

The Kappa Alpha's social calendar was completely filled this year. Starting with a fall warm-up hayride and wiener-roast, the calendar included an artists' party, where the men sketched pictures of their dates; a skating party; a theater party; and numerous house parties.

Intramural sports offer a chance for the K As to display their athletic ability. Bill Hastings and Marvin Culpepper completed their third undefeated year of ping-pong.

Bob Boyd of Wesleyan was chosen Court of Honor, or one of the three outstanding K A's in the province, at the annual Province Commanders' Meeting. Eight members of Beta Chi chapter attended this meeting, held in Morgantown, February 10 and 11, for the purpose of discussing fraternity problems.

At the time this article was being written, in February, plans were being made for the initiation of Dr. Nicholas Hyma as faculty adviser to the K As. Esteemed head of the chemistry department, Dr. Hyma advised the local fraternity, Alpha Gamma Phi, which became the national Kappa Alpha Order. His initiation will be considered one of the milestones in the history of Beta Chi.

curred in 1933, when Xi Alpha Tau, a local organization, was absorbed as Psi Chapter of Alpha Kappa Pi. Then in 1916, it joined with the Alpha Sigma Phi. The merging of these two large fraternities ranked Wesleyan with many of the oldest and largest colleges and universities in the nation.

Beta Nu chapter participated wholeheartedly at Homecoming by taking part in Wesleyantics, entering a float in the parade, and holding open-house after the game. Seven of the winning Bobcats were Alpha Sigs.

In true Christmas spirit, the Alpha Sigs played host to a very fine group of under-privileged children. The party included a huge dinner, a puppet show, and a visit from Santa Claus, who left gifts for everyone. The lights on the Christmas tree were no match for the children's bright eyes.

Athletics are an important phase of Alpha Sig life. The chapter participated in intramural sports, fielding a volleyball, basketball, and softball team.

Of the several dances and parties sponsored during the year, the biggest Alpha Sig event is the "Sig Bust" at the Stonewall Jackson Hotel in Clarksburg. This formal dance is an annual affair.

The Alpha Sigs, who live in the large house at the corner of Meade and Latham streets, are distinguished by their colors of cardinal-red and stone-grey. The official fraternity flower is the talisman rose.

Basketball

The Wesleyan Bobcats under their new coach "Hank" Ellis showed much promise at the initial part of the season, but then weakened, due to injuries and losses of valuable players. The Cats in the opening weeks seemed the team to beat, as they sported a 4—0 Conference record and had nosed out W. Va. Tech 50—48, the team slated to cop the number one slot.

As the season progressed, the loss of Billy Wilfong and Bill Reape definitely weakened the Bobcat squad. A groin injury to lanky Loren Brake and minor sprained ankles to various key members again cut down the efficiency needed to beat teams such as D & E, Glenville and W. Va. Tech.

Without question, the highlight of the season came when the Wesleyan five journeyed up to Morgantown to tangle with the powerful Mountaineers of W. Va. University. The Cats surprised the "pre-dopers" and maintained a comfortable lead throughout most of the contest, thanks to the efforts of "Coogie" Leffard, Billy Wilfong and Loren Brake. Leffard, who played one of the greatest games of his career, held the formidable Mark Workman to a meager handful of points in the first half. Here, fate intervened, and Leffard was forced to the sidelines owing to a sprained ankle. Workman then broke up the ball game by amassing a grand total of 39 points.

One reason for the early success of the Wesleyan squad was the element of playing together as a team. For the first six or seven contests the scoring was evenly divided between three and sometimes four players.

"Leffard connects with a lay-up."

Outstanding for the Orange and Black cause was sophomore Loren Brake, who dropped 226 markers through the hoop and possessed an average of 11.9 points per game. Though sidelined five games due to his groin injury, he presented himself as the most consistent Bobcat.

The "Gold dust twins" from McKeesport, Ted Come and Coogie Leffard, both of whom are sophomores, proved valuable assets to Coach Ellis. Tommy Carroll, whose constant aggressive spirit won him a spot on the All-Tournament team, had the honor of being the only starting Freshman on the Buckhannon squad. Rounding out the starting quintet was Bobby Griffis. Filling in admirably after the loss of Bill Wilfong, Griffis started slowly, reaching his peak in the second Fairmont State game when he amassed eleven points. Coach Ellis' "sixth man" was Chuck Elkins. The blond 6' Elkins remained in the background until the second Salem encounter when he dented the cords for 22 points.

Finally terminating their '50-'51 season with a 13-11 Conference record, the Cats moved into the annual W.V.I.C. tournament with high hopes.

Glenville State won tournament.

Wesleyan's aspirations quickened as the Orange & Black took their first round game by nosing out a stubborn Alderson-Broaddus squad 57—54. Brake and Carroll hit for 15 and 13 points respectively. Amidst the numerous upsets, Wesleyan gave its partisans something to cheer about as they vanquished Potomac State 81—59. Again it was Brake and Carroll who this time piled up 33 points between them. In a thrilling overtime contest the Cats dropped their semi-final tilt to Beckley College by the tune of 56—54.

The prospects of the coming season look exceedingly auspicious if the remaining key members are not drafted. Future athletics at Wesleyan obviously rest in the proposed R. O. T. C. program. If the remaining squad members are allowed to continue their education, the future looks very bright. Coach Ellis can build his '51-'52 squad from such veterans as Ted Come, Coogie Leffard, Tommy Carroll, Loren Brake and Chuck Elkins.

The 1950 Bobcat squad ended a fair season with three victories and six defeats. After they had opened the season by defeating Alderson-Broaddus 11-4 and Fairmont State 8-1, the Cats felt the pangs of defeat to West Virginia Tech 9-3. Taking to the road, the Bobcats journeyed to Potomac State where they dropped a close contest 11-7.

Sporting a 2-2 record, the Bobcats played host to the powerful Golden Eagles of Morris Harvey. Four Wesleyan pitchers took to the mound in a vain effort to stop the 15-6 slaughter. With Ab. Takacs, Wesleyan's regular shortstop, twirling for the Rossmen, the Cats dropped their fourth straight to Glenville State 17-9. The Salem Tigers journeyed the 26 miles from Clarksburg to administer to the Cats their fifth straight loss 8-2.

Wesleyan took to the road once again and absorbed their final loss of the season at the hand of the Bethany Bisons 6-1. Lefty Bob Sullivan took the hill for the Cats in the last encounter of the year against the A-B Battlers, at Philippi. In a slugfest the Wesleyanites emerged victorious 11-9.

Lack of practice, due to inclement weather, caused the Cats to fall short of expectations. Senior catcher, Butch Gentry, pulled a shoulder muscle and did not see action during the latter part of the season. This was the last season for the seniors, Clint Allman, Butch Gentry, Bob Meyers, Jim Primozic, Bob Sullivan and Abner Takacs.

* * * *

Out of the eighteen members of the 1950 squad, ten are on hand for the ensuing season. Coach Ellis will have to build from the bottom with a mixture of eager freshmen and a few veterans. First string veterans practically sure of berths are: Chuck Elkins on the initial sack, and pitchers Bobby Keane and Matt Kuhn.

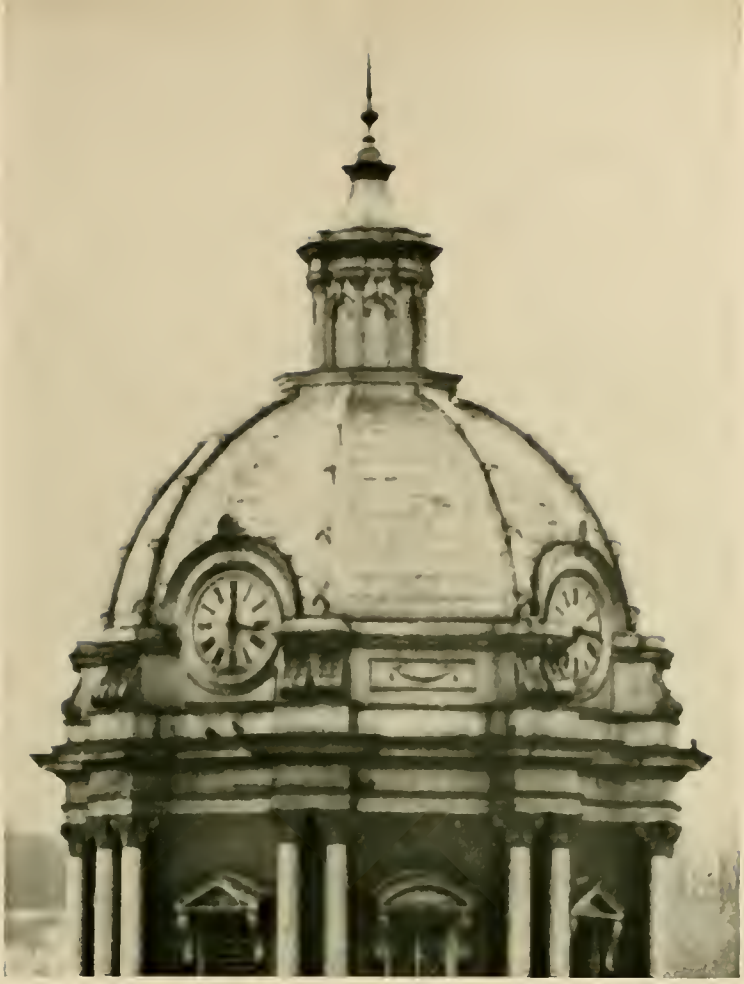
Golf and Tennis

Owing to the early date of publication a summary of golf and tennis will have to be omitted.

Of the two sports, tennis has achieved official recognition from the athletic department, while golf has temporarily been disbanded due to lack of interest.

Postponements owing to rain, and difficulties of arranging schedules, proved to be the bane of the local tennis hopes.

This year's squad will undoubtedly be built around veterans Graham Kenneweg, R. L. Moore, and Steve Keoseian.



COURT HOUSE TOWER

WESLEYAN LIFE

The oaks do not stand alone. They are dependent upon sun, rain, soil, and man. Wesleyan depends upon the community of which she is a part. When this year becomes yesterday, students will remember Buckhannon as a part of their life at Wesleyan.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH MORE WHEN YOU BUY ELECTRICITY!

Inflation is playing havoc with price structures today. However, under business-management, we have thus far succeeded in improving efficiency and increasing use so that electricity is the biggest bargain you can buy today. Do you know that you are now getting almost twice as many kilowatt-hours of service for your money as you did 20 years ago?

"Jahn & Ollier Again"

A familiar and reassuring slogan

FAMILIAR... because it has appeared in thousands of the country's finest yearbooks for the past half century.

REASSURING... because those years of specialized experience bring complete service, outstanding quality and dependable delivery to the yearbook staffs with whom we work.
